

CTREE would like to wish everyone a safe and happy holiday season and send heartfelt thanks to the support we have received this past year. We are beyond grateful for our volunteers, riders, patrons, barn improvement crew, and community. Despite a global pandemic, limited operations, CTREE has been able to move to a new home and continue to fulfill our mission of Horses Changing Lives. Wishing you and yours Happy Holidays!

Meet Our New CTREE BOD President- Amalie Bandelier

Amalie has been a board member of CTREE since 2018, after having been a part of the Horses Changing Lives Event as a volunteer since 2016. In addition, she served as the Board Secretary for two years. A Michigan native, she graduated from Northwestern University and went on to become a Vice President at a top public relations firm in New York City, managing corporate communications for Fortune 500 companies. Her focus involved working with companies to manage their global philanthropic efforts. Switching gears after moving full-time out east, Amalie brings this expertise to CTREE and is thrilled to be making a difference in her local community. Amalie has been an equestrian her whole life, having grown up riding and competing and truly believes in the power of horses helping to change lives. She lives in Sag Harbor with her husband, two young daughters, her horse and their golden retriever.

Mose Knows...

Did you know that improper disposal of horse manure poses a threat to the environment?

Horse manure can contribute to harmful run-off that pollutes our local groundwater and throwing it away in the trash takes up valuable landfill space and wastes natural resources.

That's why here at CTREE we recycle our horse manure! Recycling horse manure is an easy and cost effective way to protect water quality and keep both horses and people happy and healthy.

We're glad to be doing our part and boy are we ever 😊
